If you are relocating to Colorado from another country, you are probably facing many challenges while learning about the new culture.

You might be asking yourself:

How am I going to re-establish myself in this new place?

Should I buy a home or rent first?

How can I secure financing if I don't have credit history in this country?

How can I make the adaptation process easier for my whole family?

Is it possible to find a lifestyle that matches my culture?

Who can coach me on the process?

After all, you might be afraid of making mistakes that will impact your whole family.

As a foreigner, you need a local friend and advocate ensuring that your transition to America goes smoothly. Ideally, this should be someone who has been in your shoes before.

As an immigrant herself, Martine moved to Colorado from France in 2002 and genuinely understands your challenges. She has paved the way for herself and many newcomers who have relocated to this region.

Martine Bonhoure can guide you through all of the intricacies of setting up your new life in America.

Well-traveled and sophisticated, Martine speaks fluent English, French, and German. With a high cultural understanding, Martine is passionate about helping other foreign nationals to find the home of their dreams and make the savviest real estate investment possible.

Martine has served clients from all over the world: Europe, Australia, Canada, Brazil, India, China, Hong Kong, Ukraine, The Middle East, and more. Martine will help you navigate the legalities and bureaucracies of purchasing real estate as a foreign national.

Martine has a first-hand understanding of the process of relocating to this region – the need for temporary housing, understanding the market, the cost of buying, organizing your finances, obtaining a loan without a credit score, and the need to find the right house as soon as possible.

It's challenging to make such a move! Martine is specially equipped to help you through this process with her network of financial, legal, and skilled contracting services.

Here's what to expect when Martine helps you.

You'll start your conversations before you arrive in the country through online conferencing. She will start by explaining the real estate market and buying process in America. She will clarify the steps you need to take to prepare yourself to be ready to be established successfully.

Martine will immediately start the research process, identifying homes that check all of your boxes so that when you arrive in the area, you will be ready to see the right places for you. And yes, you can buy a home in the United States without a credit score. Martine will show you how.

You can trust her years of experience, knowledge of the market, and high level of both American and international cultural awareness to help you find the place where you will feel right at home.

Having a trusted and knowledgeable realtor by your side makes all the difference. You will have someone waiting for you upon your arrival to support you every step of the way.

Be prepared for an amazing experience, and schedule a one-on-one call as soon as possible.
